Precepts - Neel Sukhatme
Please comment on the quality of the precepts. How did they contribute to your learning in the course? To what extent did the preceptor raise challenging questions, help clarify course material, and encourage broad student participation? Was the preceptor responsive to students’ questions, opinions, and criticism?

- He is one of the best preceptors I've had. He prepares so much for every class, engages the students really well, and goes over all important topics at a level everyone can understand. His review sessions were super-helpful and he is really understanding if you’re late or have to leave early for any reason. An incredible person and preceptor.
- Neel was an excellent preceptor. His dynamic style really encouraged discussion and made brought everyone in the precept to the same level.
- Neel was a phenomenal preceptor who helped me clearly understand concepts from every week’s lectures.
- NEEL IS THE MOST AMAZING PRECEPTOR. He is very smart, yet down-to-earth, and is able to make the content approachable to students from all levels of econ background. He works hard to make precepts from discussion-based and engaging, and he really wants to see us all do well. If you ever have a class with Neel as a preceptor, be sure to choose him!!
- Neel was a fantastic preceptor. I am extremely lucky to have him. He is very clear and make sure you really understand the concept. He also does not put any pressure on you and cares about your learning. He is open to people coming in to ask him questions. He helped to synthesize the arguments made in class really well!!
- Precepts were well organized and helpful, although it often felt like they were simply chasing after loose threads that were overlooked in lecture, rather than helping us gain a deeper understanding.
- Neel did a great job precepting the course; he summarized lectures very clearly, and was extremely helpful in understanding the material. He made the course very comprehensible and was responsive to all student questions.
- My preceptor is an excellent instructor and he really helps understand concepts. His method of teaching was well suited to the course and the only reason I stuck it out in this course as a freshman was because of his teaching abilities.
- Neel has been the best preceptor I have had here at Princeton. I looked forward to his precepts every week and he did a good job of trying his best to help us out with a very unorganized class. He kept a lot of us afloat in this class.
- Neel was extremely clear and easy to understand. He was also very approachable and made every effort to make sure his students understood the important concepts. The consummate preceptor. There is a reason I saw multiple students switch into his precepts.
- Neel was incredibly clear and kind throughout the course, and ensured that his students fully understood what Professor Krugman was describing in his lectures. Neel also went into great detail on several subjects, detail that was much deeper than what was eventually required for assessments, simply because it interested him and interested us, and I feel that I benefited greatly as a result.
- Neel is the best preceptor I have ever had in an econ course. I wish more preceptors were like him. His explanations of concepts were extremely lucid and he always made himself available to students. If there is an award for being an excellent preceptor, Neel should receive it.
- Neel did a good job of not only reviewing and clarifying lecture material, as necessary, but also expanding upon the material. He presented new ways of looking at the material presented in class, and he was great at engaging students by asking meaningful questions.
- Neel was a great preceptor. I found him to be very engaging and really helped us understand the material. He was the best preceptor I’ve ever had.
- Neel was the model of what a preceptor should be. He is a teacher, more than anything else.
- Neel is a great preceptor. He added a lot to the course. I learned a lot from him.
- Neel is the model of what a preceptor should be. He is a teacher, more than anything else.
- Wonderful preceptor. Made the class enjoyable. Much better than Krugman at teaching / explain concepts.
- I think he was a little too repetitive. Still a pretty nice guy though.
Neel was good as a preceptor and went over the material in the course well, so it was helpful if you had missed lecture and helped reinforce concepts.
Neel was terrific as a preceptor. He would pose challenging questions, and then answer them in detail. His precepts were very helpful in understanding the material in-depth, and taught me what aspects of the readings and lectures would be most important in the future.
Neel is one of the best preceptor I have had here. He understand the material very well, is invested in helping us succeed in the class, and is happy to point out where to focus our attention/time.
Neel was a fantastic preceptor and really helped explain the material in an in-depth way. He clarified a lot of complex models and put abstract concepts into concrete examples.
Neel was one of the best preceptors I've had. Really engaging and went the extra mile for his students.
Neel did a good job trying to back up Krugman's lectures with the necessary things that Krugman didn't want to spend the time talking about.
Neel is fantastic! I think he's the most helpful preceptor I've met at Princeton :) He teaches superbly and goes the extra mile!
Get Neel as your preceptor; the dude was one of my favorite instructors at Princeton all time (including professors). Highly intelligent, coherent, cogent, approachable, and friendly - you name it. I could not have gotten through the course without him. He made a pretty cool iPhone DJ app too, you should check it out.
Neel was great! He was clear and easy to understand. He also really cares about his students and work, and clearly devotes a lot of time and effort into preparing his class. He was also really approachable and was great at giving review sessions.
Neel did a good job of covering the material, although initially his ability to pace his precept to cover the class was not that great.
Neel was a great preceptor. He synthesized the lectures extremely clearly and intuitively and was incredibly helpful in all aspects of the course.
He was great!
Neel was excellent. He explained everything very clearly and was engaging.
Neel's precepts are fantastic. Easily the best preceptor I've had at Princeton.
Neel Sukhatme has been extremely efficient and eloquent in his explanations of the course material during precepts. He encouraged all the students to participate, by asking highly relevant questions and providing very helpful feedback to students' answers. Moreover, he has been very approachable and always willing to explain the concepts to a further extent. Neel's precepts have been incredibly useful for my understanding of both lectures and the assigned readings.
