US House Mississippi District 1

HOW TO USE THE AARP VOTERS’ GUIDE:
AARP produced this guide to help you find out what candidates are saying about health and financial security in their own words.

HAVING TROUBLE CUTTING THROUGH THE POLITICAL CAMPAIGN CLUTTER?
AARP is committed to helping you get the facts you need to choose candidates who reflect your views and values. We are nonpartisan — we don’t support or oppose any political candidates or contribute any money to campaigns or political action committees. Our priority is ensuring you know where the candidates stand before you cast your vote.

aarp.org/yourvote
Social Security

How would you protect Social Security for today’s seniors and strengthen it for future generations?

AARP’s Position:
Social Security should continue to guarantee that Americans who work and pay into the system receive benefits based on what they earn and contribute. Benefits should keep up with inflation and last for as long as an individual lives. We must strengthen Social Security for the future and protect benefits for people who count on them most, including surviving spouses and families, lower-wage workers, and disabled individuals who no longer can work. Social Security must be put on stable financial ground, but any adjustments should be implemented gradually so changes do not impact those in or near retirement.

Ron E. Dickey (Dem):
AARP did extensive research but was unable to find any public statement on this issue by July 11, 2014.

Alan Nunnelee (Rep):
The report released in April of 2012 by the Medicare and Social Security Trustees showed that Social Security will go broke in 2033, three years earlier than previously expected. The report also showed the Medicare Hospital Insurance Trust Fund will go broke in 2024. Clearly, the days of burying our heads in the sand and pretending the status quo is acceptable must end. We must enact long term solutions to protect Medicare and Social Security for current and future beneficiaries in a way that does not impact anyone at or near retirement or eligibility age, which is exactly what is called for in the House-approved budget. (Source: Nunnelee’s Congressional Site, http://ow.ly/xEX8x)

Medicare

How would you put Medicare on stronger financial ground and protect today’s seniors and future retirees from rising health costs?

AARP’s Position:
Medicare should be strengthened and improved so both current and future generations can count on having access to high-quality, affordable coverage. Medicare should continue to guarantee a specific set of benefits that are affordable and meet a person’s health care needs. Medicare should offer choices that ensure access to high-quality health care. Medicare should improve the quality, safety, and efficiency of care by emphasizing value and cracking down on fraud, waste, and abuse.

Ron E. Dickey (Dem):
AARP did extensive research but was unable to find any public statement on this issue by July 11, 2014.

Alan Nunnelee (Rep):
The report released in April of 2012 by the Medicare and Social Security Trustees showed that Social Security will go broke in 2033, three years earlier than previously expected. The report also showed the Medicare Hospital Insurance Trust Fund will go broke in 2024. Clearly, the days of burying our heads in the sand and pretending the status quo is acceptable must end. We must enact long term solutions to protect Medicare and Social Security for current and future beneficiaries in a way that does not impact anyone at or near retirement or eligibility age, which is exactly what is called for in the House-approved budget. (Source: Nunnelee’s Congressional Site, http://ow.ly/xEX8x)
Financial Security

How would you help Americans save so they can secure their future and live independently as they age?

AARP’s Position:
More opportunities and incentives should be available for all Americans to plan and save so they can have a more secure future. Freedom from age discrimination is a fundamental right and critical to Americans’ ability to have a secure retirement. Every worker should be treated fairly, regardless of age. We need to support family caregivers who make it possible for more seniors to live in their homes and communities, where they want, rather than taxpayers and struggling families paying for costlier care.

Ron E. Dickey (Dem):
AARP did extensive research but was unable to find any public statement on this issue by July 11, 2014.

Alan Nunnelee (Rep):
I believe true economic growth comes from the private sector; the government cannot spend us into prosperity. Our job in Washington is to create the conditions for a strong economy. The four main ways we can get the economy growing again are: cuttings and reforming spending, lowering and simplifying taxes, stopping senseless regulations, and developing American energy. (Source: Nunnelee’s Congressional Website, http://ow.ly/yKCrO)
After years of working hard and paying into the system, AARP believes you’ve earned the right to know where the candidates stand on the issues that matter to you and your family. This Voters’ Guide will help you find out where the candidates stand on health and financial security in their own words, so you can decide which candidate best reflects your views and values.

To find out more about these issues and voting information, please visit aarp.org/yourvote.

Voter Information Inside