Social Security

How would you protect Social Security for today’s seniors and strengthen it for future generations?

AARP’s Position:
Social Security should continue to guarantee that Americans who work and pay into the system receive benefits based on what they earn and contribute. Benefits should keep up with inflation and last for as long as an individual lives. We must strengthen Social Security for the future and protect benefits for people who count on them most, including surviving spouses and families, lower-wage workers, and disabled individuals who no longer can work. Social Security must be put on stable financial ground, but any adjustments should be implemented gradually so changes do not impact those in or near retirement.

Aelea Christofferson (Dem):
AARP did extensive research but was unable to find any public statement on this issue by July 11, 2014.

Greg P. Walden (Rep):
However, the congressman opposes the new cost-of-living formula because he believes it will hurt seniors in the long run. “It’s chained to the president’s consumer price index and that would be particularly hard on low-income senior citizens,” he said. The proposed increases in Social Security would cost seniors a few dollars over the next few years, but in 15 years it could grow to $50 a month. “I don’t support bracket creep. I remember the ’70s and ’80s when one would wind up giving back any pay raise they earned because it would put them in a new tax bracket, because tax brackets were tied to inflation,” he said. Medicare

How would you put Medicare on stronger financial ground and protect today’s seniors and future retirees from rising health costs?

AARP’s Position:
Medicare should be strengthened and improved so both current and future generations can count on having access to high-quality, affordable coverage. Medicare should continue to guarantee a specific set of benefits that are affordable and meet a person’s health care needs. Medicare should offer choices that ensure access to high-quality health care. Medicare should improve the quality, safety, and efficiency of care by emphasizing value and cracking down on fraud, waste, and abuse.

Aelea Christofferson (Dem):

Greg P. Walden (Rep):
Greg Walden has repeatedly voted to protect the Medicare program from damaging cuts that would jeopardize seniors’ access to health care services. He opposed Medicare premium increases and a $500 billion cut to home health, nursing home care, rehabilitation, Medicare Advantage and hospital services that would damage benefits for Oregon’s seniors. Greg Walden voted to improve how Medicare treats seniors by ensuring that doctors have the resources they need to avoid rationing or closing their doors to seniors. Financial Security

How would you help Americans save so they can secure their future and live independently as they age?

AARP’s Position:
More opportunities and incentives should be available for all Americans to plan and save so they can have a more secure future. Freedom from age discrimination is a fundamental right and critical to Americans’ ability to have a secure retirement. Every worker should be treated fairly, regardless of age. We need to support family caregivers who make it possible for more seniors to live in their homes and communities, where they want, rather than taxpayers and struggling families paying for costlier care.

Aelea Christofferson (Dem):

Greg P. Walden (Rep):
...Creating a more friendly environment for job creators will provide long-term incentives for small business owners to invest, take risk and grow. Greg has been a leader in the efforts to reduce harmful regulations that stifle job creation and to keep taxes low to encourage job growth. Greg has also helped lead the effort to reduce the red tape of government that’s unnecessary and costs us jobs. ...We don’t need more costly and unnecessary regulations; we need commonsense reforms that reduce the size, scope, and cost of the federal government.
